

The implementation of our document system

We hope that litigants can be able to track their cases online, and to be able to know all the updates of their cases, and to be capable of knowing all the submitted documents electronically.

Statistics

Calculating the cost is inaccurate at this moment due to the economic inflation after two revolutions that made numbers to change.

Observing the adversarial principle

Court proceedings are until this moment manual.

The acceleration of proceedings and urgent proceedings

We started updating our electronic system, but as we do have many branches all over the country and our population is almost 95 million we are not covering the whole country and all of our departments.

The technical aspects of our electronic document system

As most of our departments do rely on work manually for most of their work, we have not faced any major malfunctioning.

Keeping information secure

As we are updating our systems, we do believe that keeping the secrecy of our information is very crucial and important.

Notifications of decisions to the parties

Notifications are manually informed to parties.

The influence of electronic document system on the courts operating method

Working electronically shall provide assistance to the litigating parties at the administrative court.
